This publication includes deadline dates for the month of January 2011 and late announcements for the months of December 2010 and November 2010. Proposals submitted by a referenced target date will be included in a particular review cycle, while those received after the target date will be held for the next review cycle. It is advisable to contact the program staff cited in each listing to obtain all available information.

Those deadlines marked by an asterisk () are tentative. In some cases, these are specific dates that may change depending on the timing of the deadline notices and in others, we have listed just the month during which a deadline is expected. Deadlines marked by a double plus sign (++) are target dates.

Program: Dissemination, Implementation, & Operational Research for HIV Prevention
Agency: National Institutes of Health
Next Deadline: Jan 07, 2011
NIMH, NICHD & NINR support research (R01; R03; R21; R34) to enhance the science of technology transfer, dissemination, implementation, & operational research for evidence-based HIV-prevention interventions. Studies are particularly encouraged to capitalize on intervention dissemination services, trainings, and evaluation conducted by the CDC. It is a good idea to contact NIMH because, when appropriate, NIH program staff will liaise with CDC program staff. Expires 5/8/11. Agency: National Science Foundation
Next Deadline: Jan 20, 2011 (target date)

Supports basic research in areas related to human evolution and contemporary human biological variation. Supported research areas include human genetic variation, human adaptation, human osteology and bone biology, human and nonhuman primate paleontology, functional anatomy, and primate socioecology. The program frequently serves as a bridge within NSF between the social and behavioral sciences and the natural and physical sciences. Proposals are commonly jointly reviewed and funded with other programs. See http://www.nsf.gov/funding/pgm_summ.jsp?pims_id=5407 for details. E-mail: kreed@nsf.gov

Program: Systematic Biology and Biodiversity Inventories
Agency: National Science Foundation
Next Deadline: Jan 09, 2011
Supports research in taxonomy and systematics that contributes to using phylogenetic methods to understand the evolution of life in time and space; discovery, description, and catalogues of global species diversity; and organizing that information in efficiently retrievable forms that best meet the needs of science and society. Revisionary Synthesis in Systematics (REVSYS) proposals also supported. See http://www.nsf.gov/funding/pgm_summ.jsp?pims_id=12825 for details. E-mail: mkearney@nsf.gov

Program: Behavioral Systems
Agency: National Science Foundation
Next Deadline: Jan 12, 2011
Supports research on development, function, mechanisms, and evolutionary history of behavior, with emphasis on a vertically integrated understanding of the behavioral phenotype in nature. Specifically encourages projects that seek to understand how combinations of neural, hormonal, physiological, and developmental mechanisms act synergistically as a system from which behavior emerges. Lab work and the study of animals in captivity are encouraged when necessary. See http://www.nsf.gov/funding/pgm_summ.jsp?pims_id=501086 for details. E-mail: melekoni@nsf.gov

Agency: National Science Foundation
Next Deadline: Jan 12, 2011
Supports research aimed at understanding how interacting developmental processes give rise to the emergent properties of organisms. A systems-level approach using molecular, genetic, biochemical, and physiological techniques, as well as techniques from outside biology, are needed. Three program areas: Plant, Fungal, and Microbial Developmental Systems; Animal Developmental Systems; and Evolution of Developmental Systems. Program: Neural Systems
Agency: National Science Foundation
Next Deadline: Jan 12, 2011
Supports research on how complex functions emerge from the interactions of the cellular elements of the nervous system and the interactions of the nervous system with other physiological systems. Development and use of new theoretical approaches and computational models to guide and instruct experimental design are particularly encouraged. Agency: National Science Foundation
Next Deadline: Jan 12, 2011
Supports research aimed at furthering the understanding of organisms as integrated units of biological organization. Projects that use systems approaches to understand why particular patterns of architecture and regulatory control have emerged as general organismal properties are particularly encouraged. Three program areas: Symbiosis, Defense, and Self-recognition; Processes, Structures, and Integrity; and Organism-Environment Interactions. Agency: National Science Foundation
Next Deadline: Jan 12, 2011
Supports research in the areas of molecular biophysics, molecular biochemistry, and metabolic biochemistry. Emphasizes the relationships among structure, function, and dynamics in studies of individual macromolecules, macromolecular complexes, and metabolic pathways. Research of interest includes novel and creative projects addressing protein folding and dynamics, natively unfolded proteins, protein design, molecular recognition, and metabolic pathways. Program: CHE-DMR-DMS Solar Energy Initiative (SOLAR)
Agency: National Science Foundation
Next Deadline: Jan 25, 2011
Supports interdisciplinary efforts to address the scientific challenges of highly efficient harvesting, conversion, and storage of solar energy. Groups must include three or more co-PIs: one with demonstrated high expertise in chemistry, one in materials research, and one in mathematical sciences. Goal is to create a new modality of linking the mathematical with the chemical and materials sciences to develop transformative paradigms.
